
P R E S S R E L E A S E

CONTACT:

Ivan Gaetz
Managing Editor, Collaborative Librarianship
Regis University
3333 Regis Blvd.
Denver CO 80221-1099
igaetz@regis.edu
303-458-3556
www.collaborativelibrarianship.org

Collaborative Librarianship* – Web Site Upgrade

September 1, 2009 - (Denver CO) – The open access journal, Collaborative Librarianship, (eISSN: 1943-7528) has released its new website with more user-friendly features. The current issue, Vol. 1, no. 3, now appears with the new look. Visit: www.collaborativelibrarianship.org.

Collaborative Librarianship* – on facebook

The journal now has a facebook presence. Join the over 200 “fans” already signed up for “facebook collaboration”: Visit: <http://www.facebook.com/CollaborativeLibrarianship>

Collaborative Librarianship* – Indexing Expands

In addition to indexing through DOAJ (Directory of Open Access Journals), Collaborative Librarianship is now indexed in H. W. Wilson’s Library Literature.

Collaborative Librarianship* – Call for Papers

The journal welcomes articles, reports, reviews, and news items that pertain to any aspect of the nature, methodology, promotion, practice and concerns of how all types of libraries, librarians and library consortia work together and work with partners beyond the library community to advance the creation, collection and dissemination of information services. Scholarly articles will undergo peer review. Articles, reports and other items not peer reviewed could be published in other sections of the journal. The journal now invites readers to respond to issues raised in the journal; as appropriate, these responses may be considered for publication.

Collaborative Librarianship welcomes applications from those wishing to be considered as peer reviewers. Please note that the journal wishes to extend its reach internationally.

All inquiries and submissions can be made through the journal’s website, by contacting Ivan Gaetz, or by contacting any of the section editors listed on the journal’s website.